Business Continuity Planning 101

In the business environment, there are many types of unforeseen circumstances that can occur. While crises and disasters cannot always be predicted, they can be planned for. Strong planning can mitigate the negative effects of these disasters.

Our April presentation will focus on Business Continuity Planning and Disaster Recovery. Specifically, our speaker will discuss Human Resources' role and responsibility in business planning and recovery.

About our Speaker:

Steven Signore
Director of Legal, HR and Administrative Affairs
Strohl Systems

Steve Signore is currently the Director of Legal, HR and Administrative Affairs for Strohl Systems, the world's premier provider of business continuity planning software and services. He is also the BCP coordinator for Strohl's own BCP plan. Prior to his current position, Steve practiced law for 20 years specializing in small business and employment matters, Steve has held the positions of Vice President of a small manufacturing company, and Director of Operations for a software company that attempted to resolve the Y2K problem.

Steve has taught and/or lectured on various topics including HR, leadership, law, and certification courses for HRCI at Temple University, Philadelphia University, Montgomery County Community College, Eastern University, and Villanova University. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania and received his JD from Duquesne University, his MBA from Eastern, and his SPHR from Villanova. Steve is a former member of the SEPA SHRM Board and is currently a member of SEPA's Advisory Board.
